THE EU DIRECTIVES

Our food supplements are under threat by the forthcoming EU legislation on food supplements and herbs.

Top celebrities Paul McCartney, Elton John and Cliff Richard are just some of the celebrities lending their support to a major campaign to protect the industry against forthcoming EU legislation.

Holland & Barrett and Solgar have printed a million information leaflets which are currently being distributed through health food stores.

The leaflet encourages consumers to write to their MPs and MEPs about the legislation. It is backed up by a fundraising initiative and manufacturers, distributors and retailers are asked to get behind the campaign.

Information on the EU Directives can be found on the website
